

NANCY WYNNE IS INTERESTED IN GERMANTOWN HOSPITAL FETE

The Germantown Academy Grounds Will Be Used for a Large Lawn Party and Fair in Aid of the Germantown Hospital Tomorrow—Society to Help

SOCIETY will be kept pretty busy tomorrow rushing from the fete to be given on the grounds of the Germantown Academy for the benefit of the Germantown Hospital to the National Tennis Tournament at St. Martin's and back again to the fair, as there will be no end of pretty girls, debutantes of this year and of years to come, who will serve a delicious supper under the huge shade trees which surround the building. They will wear black-and-white striped aprons and will look altogether fetching. Then, when every one has bought all the pretty, fancy articles, as well as the good things to eat, there will be a dance in the Assembly Hall of the school. And by the way, the yalls of that hall could tell of many a romance begun while our mothers and fathers danced together, for the dances at the Germantown Academy are no new things, they have been a source of delight to the younger set in Germantown for many a year. To get back to the hospital fair, the entertainment is being planned by the board of lady visitors, of which Mrs. Charles P. Keith is chairman.

The other members of the board are Mrs. Alexander Wister, Mrs. Edgar Butler, Miss Maria Logan, Mrs. George Cameron, Mrs. Arthur Haines, Mrs. Francis R. Strawbridge, Miss Elizabeth S. Abbott, Mrs. Baltzar de Mare and Mrs. Alexander Wister, Jr. Mrs. Charles P. Keith will have charge of the fancy table, and Mrs. George Cameron and Mrs. Wister will arrange for the supper. The dance will be in charge of Mrs. Wister.

Mrs. De Mare will be at the head of the white elephant table, which will have no end of odd and unusual articles; it could not help it, you know, if every one brings his or her white elephant to dispose of. It seems wonderful that there should be in the world some who will appreciate and like the things which others do not, but true it is, and it is a good thing. Mrs. William Beard will have the lemonade table under her care, and Mrs. J. A. Wiggins and the Readers' Club of Germantown will have candy tables. Mrs. Calvin Smyth will have charge of balloons, while Mrs. George Bonafon will sell sugar from a cart done up in black paper to represent pieces of coal. There will also be a Mother Goose table, and Mrs. Nancy Smyth will wear an old-fashioned frock with great side pockets in which will be mysterious packages for old and young. Then there will be a sliding board for the kiddies. Mrs. Joseph Earnshaw will have the orange tree and Mrs. George Franklin Brown will sell ice cream.

The formal opening of the Business Girls' Home, at 804 Pine street, took place yesterday afternoon, when the women interested in the undertaking gave an opening tea. The home is arranged so as to accommodate about 30 girls, who earn their own living. The project is not a charitable one. It is backed by several wealthy women of this city, but the girls are to pay board and lodging and receive many comforts in return.

The building which will have the new club is a four-story structure. It contains a living room, two dining rooms, kitchen, laundry, two bathrooms and five lavatories. Each girl has a single enameled bed, oak bureau and rocker in her room. A washerwoman will be in the building every day to do the washing of clothes for the girls at a nominal price. The living room on the first floor is beautifully furnished with wicker furniture, piano, rugs and everything that spells "home." Of course, there will be rules, but those rules will be just the same as the rules that would be set down by the girls' parents. Weekly entertainments will be given for and by the girls.

After the girls get their breakfast in the mornings, there will be plates piled high with sandwiches, fruits and cake. They will be given paper and string and allowed to make up their own luncheons to carry to work with them. There will be no charge for this service. There are a number of girls installed in the house already.

There are about 30 prominent women who are on the board of managers, all of whom helped bring the club to a realization. The officers of the club include: Mrs. George Pales Baker, president; Mrs. Joseph Taylor Jackson, Mrs. Lewis E. Parke, Mrs. George O. Ross and William C. Hesse, vice presidents; Miss Helen Hawkins, recording secretary; Miss Emily R. Welch, treasurer and corresponding secretary.

MANY BRIDES ARE STOPPING AT SHORE

Phantasmagoria of Color Noticeable in Trouseaux

Lovely brides are adding charm to the Great Wooden Way these beautiful June days. In former years, brides were distinguished by their symphonic costumes. Who doesn't remember the bride in gray from the tips of her toes to the crown of her head, or the bride in brown? However, this year there is no harmonious color scheme and the costume of the bride of today is a phantasmagoria of coloring.
